POMAR DO BRASIL

30 Years of Bringing Nature's Finest to Every Table

Pomar do Brasil was founded 30 years ago, inspired by the vision and determination of a recently retired professor from the Federal University of Sergipe (UFS). Rather than ending one chapter of her life, she chose to begin another—transforming the abundant fruits from the family's farm into premium-quality products that deliver health, flavor, and excellence to consumers.

Together with her husband, an agricultural engineer holding a Ph.D., she combined knowledge, dedication, and a passion for agriculture to build a company founded on strong values, respect for consumers, and an uncompromising commitment to quality.

The company's first production facility was a small structure attached to the family home. Despite limited resources, the mission was clear: to produce safe, natural, and high-quality foods while strictly following all food safety regulations and industry best practices.

To turn this vision into reality, the family invested heavily in knowledge and continuous improvement. Visits to leading food industries across Northeastern Brazil, specialized training programs, extensive research, and ongoing development resulted in a premium fruit pulp line recognized for its authentic flavor, exceptional quality, and the trust it has earned from consumers.

The company grew steadily over the years. In 2005, just nine years after its founding, Pomar do Brasil inaugurated its modern production facility in the Industrial District of Aracaju, significantly expanding its manufacturing capacity and strengthening its position in the market.

Always attentive to consumer preferences and market trends, the company continued to innovate. In 2020, it launched its premium açaí product line, which quickly gained the trust of consumers and business partners, becoming one of the company's flagship products and driving a new phase of growth.

Building on this success, Pomar do Brasil introduced its premium ice cream collection, crafted with carefully selected ingredients, exclusive tropical flavors, and the same commitment to excellence that has defined the company since its foundation. These products have rapidly gained recognition and further strengthened the Pomar do Brasil brand.

Committed to controlling every stage of its supply chain and ensuring the highest-quality raw materials, the company took another strategic step by establishing Pomar do Pará, located in the world's largest açaí-producing region. This initiative guarantees access to the finest fruits from the Amazon while reinforcing the company's commitment to quality, traceability, and excellence in every product.

Today, after 30 years of history, Pomar do Brasil has become a trusted reference in the production of fruit pulps, açaí, and premium ice creams. Combining advanced technology, innovation, and rigorous quality control, the company serves customers throughout Brazil while expanding its international presence, bringing the authentic taste of Brazilian fruits to markets around the world.

More than producing food, Pomar do Brasil builds lasting relationships based on trust, honors its origins, and remains true to the vision that inspired its founder: transforming nature's finest fruits into products that bring flavor, health, and happiness to people everywhere.

Pomar do Brasil — 30 years of bringing the very best of nature to families around the world.
