RICO Paladar FROZEN FOODS

BRAZILIAN CHEESE BREAD

Rico Paladar is a family-owned company that has been in the frozen food market for 4 years.

It all started when Cleber left a frozen food company, where his brother Renato also worked as a production manager, and, due to this, they decided, in a family meeting, to start their own business, specializing in the production of Brazilian Cheese Bread. At the beginning, they rented a 30 m² space, purchased equipment and a vehicle for deliveries. With an initial small production, they sold the products door to door to local shops and businesses in the region.

Today, the company is located in Curitiba, in the Uberaba district. It has its own facilities, with infrastructure and skilled employees, who work with top-quality raw materials to serve the best Brazilian Cheese Bread in the city.

Rico Paladar's mission is to offer a differentiated product, focused on quality and excellence, to meet the market's needs, both in wholesale and retail.

Do you know that feeling of missing home and craving something warm and freshly baked? Whether at breakfast or any time of day, Cheese Bread straight from the oven is a delicious treat. Rico Paladar products are made with selected ingredients while preserving the tradition and recipes passed down through generations.

Cheese Bread has an interesting history. It is a South American delicacy, widely enjoyed in Brazil. It is a variation of Chipa, a recipe developed in Jesuit missions with Indigenous and European influences, traditionally associated with countries such as Paraguay and Argentina. It is believed to have entered Brazil around the 1860s.

Today, Cheese Bread is widely enjoyed by Brazilians throughout the country. Rico Paladar has developed several varieties of this delicacy, strengthening its presence in the Paraná market.
